A WOMAN TALKS SENSE

There are some men who have the silly notion that women are unable to understand this so-called man's world. They can learn much by listening to intelligent women.

For example, Miss Janet Planner, former French correspondent for the New Yorker, says that "the downfall of democracy is money worship because democracy was founded on spiritual things."

How true the observation is and how often do we witness the death of spiritual things because of money worship. The desire for material wealth has destroyed the spiritual life of nations and individuals in the past. It will do the same today.

Miss Planner justly says: "Selfishness and silliness are social sins. We pay for them. We will pay for building up a check-book family tree, a background of financial breeding that a rich man is like a duke in the old days and a multimillionaire is like a local king."

While we doubt that the United States has gone to the dogs spiritually or that the people of this nation are spiritually degenerate, there has been evident a cult of money worship. It finds disciples in unexpected places and even the organized churches of the land have not been immune to the materialistic spirit.

The power of money in our social and economic system has, at times, warped the fabric of society and developed injustices that ignored the spiritual worth of human beings. The lust for profit, for financial assets, has hardened the hearts of men and women and made them deal unjustly with other beings—Flagler Tribune.

THE SHARP OF AGRICULTURE

The New York Times, a very excellent newspaper and rated as one of the best in the nation, constantly reiterates the necessity for reducing the benefits that farmers are receiving from the government.

The Times recently pointed out that farm income has increased. It says that in 1932 net income from agriculture was $3,252,000,000, equal to 8.1 per cent of the national income, while farm population was 23.9 per cent of the total. This year it adds, gross farm income, including government payments, will be about $11,200,000,000. The net income from agriculture will be $6,000,000,000, equal to 9.7 per cent of national income, while farm population will equal 22.8 per cent of the total.

In other words, the argument is that 22.8 per cent of the population is not entitled to more than 9.7 per cent of the national income. The theory apparently embraces the interesting assumption that farmers are not entitled to anything like an average American income. They must be satisfied with what the industrialists, the financiers and the laborers allow them to secure—Flagler Tribune.

DEFENSE ITEM

Here's an item that may mean something about defense. One day recently a plane factory in Texas delivered fifty all-metal trainer planes to the government. One year before the field upon which the plant stands was growing cotton. Structural steel was undervalued late in November, 1940, and the first plane was assembled April 7th. There are hundreds of similar plants making equally as good records—Flagler Tribune.

Two weeks until Christmas—and a flat pocketbook. After painting the town red one usually feels blue. The average man thinks it's a poor rule if it doesn't work his way.

Publicity may be an art but there is a lot of artificial publicity. The trouble with business is that there are too many business men who believe that everything is all right in the country when business has no problems and profits are fat and healthy.

There is only one way to whip Germany and break up the Axis plunderbund. It sounds cruel but the victory can come only through the killing of German soldiers and the rest of the world has the choice of doing the job or accepting Nazi domination. Believe it or not.

Then there is the story about the man who did not want to go to Heaven because he was too lazy to twang a harp.

It may be mixing metaphors, but it is only stating a fact to say that world shipping is traveling on a rough road. There are two sides to every quarrel, and it is a good plan to stay on the outside—if you can.

The only way we can account for the husband some women select is because of their love for cheap things.

If you think you have a very intimate friend, don't get into a business deal with him. Too many people waste too much time trying to tell other people what to do and how to think.

Work hard, save your money and you will die early enough for your heirs to enjoy spending it. It is gradually beginning to dawn upon the average intelligent that there can be economic crimes.

Life can be enjoyed by all people who are willing to accept it patiently.

The world may owe every person a living but, as a rule, one has to work like the devil to collect it.

A banker says married men are more honest than single men. Married men know that honesty is the only safe policy.

Reformers can say what they please, but short skirts are alright so far as a man can see.

It has been remarked that it is the age of woman. But she is not telling it!

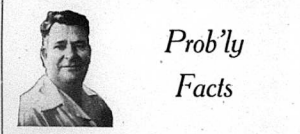

About the only way to get rid of bad neighbors is to move off and leave 'em!

We are convinced that profiteers are descended from privateers.

A square person seldom is bothered with the "eternal triangle."

Real leadership consists of something besides mouth work. Some family trees bear nothing but nuts!

PROB FACTS

The bank officials of the new bank are appreciating the cool snap we're having for the boys have been wearing their coats and ties since the opening. I always had a notion it was the depositors that did the sweating instead of the officials, but that's not true in this case for the depositors dress more for the weather than the banks.

There's an old saying the banker always wants the family and all the kids on a note, you can't sue him blame 'em for each kid at the age of eighteen with a high school education has an investment of $600,000 in 'em, you can understand why a poor man always wants a large family.

A farmer was buying a place off of a Real Estate agent, the agent told the farmer "To come back in a few days and I'll have your deed fixed up on the property."

The farmer told 'em "If you don't mind I'd like to have a mortgage instead of a deed." "Why the mortgage?" asked the agent.

"Wal, I tell you" replied the farmer, "the bank had a mortgage on my other place and I had what you call a deed."

German Propaganda Minister Goebbels said a few days ago "President Roosevelt is running after war but there is a question as to whether he will be able to catch up with it or not."

Mr. Goebbels can rest at ease now as bad as we hate it, the war has caught up with the President as well as catching See. Knox of the Navy napping, who's face is the reddest in the nation and it's not from a case of sun burn either. But there's one congratulation about it we may have lost a few ships but we have lost some of the soap programs off of the radio.

For more than a year the nutrition experts have suggested that grass is rich in certain vitamins and it could be made as nutritious as turnip greens, and far more tastier with a dip of sauce than spinach. If that be true we have nothing to worry about in the Everglades unless it getting the cause for we have more grass to the acre than any other place in the nation, with the benefit of grazing without even stooping for lots of our grasses are shoulder high.

Prime Minister Gen. High-Jacker Poko-Face Tojo told the people of Japan we will win up with victory.

He must have overlooked that fellow by the name of Scott out in Okla., who has the patent rights on the slogan of "V" for victory, and it is presumed that the fellow is an American, and I have no doubts but what the word peace may be left by some American known hereabouts.

Will Rogers once said "The United States has never lost a war, but has never won a conference."

There has been many a man with a poker face that has reached across the table for the pot, but has drawn back a nub.

The neighborhood has had a wet up on the meadow that has been ranging around for the last two or three weeks, but there is quite a few of the farmers sick with what is known at Benneitis, (bean-itis) due to a very low bean market.

New Fender Reflects Ingenuity

One of the appearance features distinguishing the new 1941 Chevrolet is the "door-action" fender, which lends a definite air of distinction to the car. Designed in the fender wing which swings with the door as it is opened, for it is a separate unit, bolted to the door. Repair is thus facilitated, and in case of replacement, the entire door need not be purchased; engineers point out. Chevrolet engineers have ingeniously added a foot scraper at the forward end of the concealed running boards in the newly protected area created by the "door-action" fender.

CAPTAIN'S INSPECTION ON BOARD ONE OF THE U.S. NAVY'S "COVERED WAGONS"

Members of the crew of the aircraft carrier U. S. S. SARATOGA are pictured as they line up for Captain's inspection. Aircraft carrier in the U. S. Navy are called "covered wagons" because their miniature hulls are made as the topside decks for their hangars beneath and from the largest covered decks of any type ship in the Navy.

At the present time the U. S. Navy has six carriers in operation from any one of whom decks as many as 100 planes can be launched in eighteen minutes and can be landed in slightly more than two hours. In spite of their great height and length, these carriers are officially credited with designed speeds of from 29 to 34 knots, which is nearly that of the destroyers.

With new Navy ships of all designs being launched at the rate of at least one every ten days, the Navy and Navy planes need men and other opportunities for any qualified young man to receive free specialized training worth hundreds of dollars while receiving excellent pay from the first day of enlistment.

Too Late To Classify
By RUSSELL KAY

This is written as first news of the treacherous and cowardly attack by Japan is trickling in. The war of nerves is ended and the way of action begun. It was not until the United States but now that it has come we accept the challenge and enter the conflict unflinchingly.

Dispatches tell of considerable damage with losses sustained by our military forces at several points. At the moment it is impossible to ascertain the extent of such losses but indications are that they are substantial.

Despite this initial damage and its attendant regrettable loss of lives, any temporary advantage Japan may have gained is far over-shadowed by the fact that this action has served to electrically unify our entire nation.

Where there was question, askance and doubt in the minds of many as to what our course should be a few hours ago, there is none today. By her dastardly action, Nippon with her first bomb swept uncertainty from the minds and hearts of 120,000,000 Americans and united them as one against a common enemy.

Had Japan chosen to ignore us and allowed her defiance to enter itself into an invasion of Thailand our course would have been much more difficult. In that case it is doubtful if we would have found ourselves either united or determined. America today is aroused, as never before in her history, her wrath is righteous and her cause just. Now she understands, realizes she has a job to do, and she will grimly and determinedly set about doing it.

But let's not kid ourselves. The task is not an easy one. This is our entry into an all-out effort and the victory will not come in a week or a month. We are still unprepared and will require the full cooperation of everyone, service men and civilians alike, to win.

We must forget our selfish interests, cease squabbling among ourselves, and go to work. That this fact is already fully realized is evidenced by the action of labor in immediately calling off proposed strikes and pledging its full effort. To the credit of Senator Wheeler, the American First Committee and other isolationists proponents, they have swiftly joined forces with their fellow Americans and pledged their full cooperation to win the war now that we're in it.

From time to time through this column I have been critical of certain governmental activities when I honestly felt that such criticism was deserved and, if given, would help to remedy the situation, and only last week I pointed out certain weaknesses in the national civil defense effort that in my opinion was serving to hinder its effectiveness.

In the fact of what has happened, my complaint becomes trivial and unnecessary, for I am with her attack on Pearl Harbor did more to make Americans really and fully "defense conscious" than anything that had been done by the President, Mayor LaGuardia, or anyone else.

Florida is extremely fortunate in the fact that no state in this nation has progressed fur-

STORK, SHOWER

Mrs. E. B. Reynolds was honored at a stork shower at the home of Mrs. R. O. Stacey on Laké Harbor on Thursday afternoon. Many lovely gifts were showered upon the honoree. Light refreshments were served to Mrs. Frank Robertson, Mrs. Earnest Archer, Mrs. Dawson Bledsoe, Mrs. A. W. Shuler, Mrs. J. A. Henderson, Mrs. J. C. Bryant, Mrs. Joe Crouch, Mrs. K. B. Eldon, Mrs. Wm. Hunt, Mrs. Carter Neal, Mrs. Doris Genney.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mrs. Edith Y. Barrus led a round table discussion on "Child Training and Christmas Holidays." Ideas and experiences were exchanged among those attending as the part the children should play in the Christmas plans and festivities. Hobbies as a means of child training and as a basis for gifts and cash income were also discussed.

Mrs. Laura Willis was appointed as leader of the program for the Christmas party. She is chairman of defense committees and citizenship committees and has given much of her time in telling others about the importance of these topics, but it had not occurred to me that any one could so thoroughly put into practice what they taught in theory, and if all American women, when put to the test, react so unselfishly as this one has, it will prove that our high standard of American living, after all, has not destroyed the old pioneer spirit of which we have read so much and seen so little.

AMERICAN WOMEN

I never will it electrically me as it did Monday when I heard my friend, Edith Murray, in a talk she gave at a meeting of the PTA in South Bay. I was probably the only one there who realized that she was trying to bolster her own courage in order that she might go through with a task which took all of her willpower to do at that particular time. The bombing of Pearl Harbor and Hickam Field meant considerably more to her personally than that our country had been attacked. Her only daughter and two babies were there and as yet she had not been able to publish any contact with them.

I have known for a long time that she is chairman of defense committees and citizenship committees and has given much of her time in telling others about the importance of these topics, but it had not occurred to me that any one could so thoroughly put into practice what they taught in theory, and if all American women, when put to the test, react so unselfishly as this one has, it will prove that our high standard of American living, after all, has not destroyed the old pioneer spirit of which we have read so much and seen so little.

The "Food for Freedom" program, adjusted farm programs resulting from defense production goals in connection with the "Food for Freedom" program. "It is important to the future of our Democracy that defense production goals in the 'Food for Freedom' program be reached and the service of our production credit association be being administered in such manner as to be of the most possible benefit in meeting the credit needs of farmers participating in this worthy program," was his comment.

It was pointed out by these officials that the association is a non-profit farmers' cooperative organization interested in the general welfare of agriculture and that it desires to serve as a source of sound credit information and advice for farmers in its territory. "It is essential that our American way of life be preserved," they stated, "and our association is anxious to discuss with any farmer his credit problems in connection with this adjusted farm program.

This association is formulating plans for an elaborate annual meeting on February 4, 1942.

think it's a good subject for argument. During my early childhood I distinctly remember my Dad having three different razor straps at separate times. And I can guarantee that none were lost and that not one of them was half worn out from strapping his razor.
